Authority to Supply Fallsington School House With Water

Notify That Water Will Be Made Available by The First of March

By Staff Reporter

FALLSINGTON, Dec. 18 — The Falls township school board has received notification from the Township of Falls Authority that the Authority will supply Fallsington school with water, according to James P. Doheny, secretary of the school board. The letter of notification states that the water will be made available by March 1, 1953, Doheny stated.

According to Medill Bair, regional superintendent the water line of the Authority which is to carry water from Crystal Lake to Fairless Hills runs about 400 feet North of the Fallsington school grounds.

Whether the school district will pay for piping the water from the transmission line to the school, depends on whether the Authority decides to supply water to Falls township, said Doheny. A petition is presently circulating in the township requesting the Authority supply a water system down Yardley avenue to the monument, then up Main street to Trenton road, a distance estimated as approximately one-half mile. "If the Authority provides this system," said Bair, "the only installation cost to the school district will be to run the line from the street to the school."

According to Albert Kellett, Fallsington merchant, the obtaining of a water supply in the above area is the main object of the petition which he says now has 125 names and which will be presented to the Township of Falls Authority at their January meeting.

"Everyone in town wants this water", said Kellett, "and as long as it's going right past us to Fairless Hills we might as well get it now or we may not get it for a long time."

Samuel Hannah is Found Dead at Daughter's Home

When Samuel Hannah, 72, failed to arise by 11 yesterday morning, it was discovered by his daughter, Mrs. Lehman Strauss, that he had apparently died in his sleep.

Mr. Hannah, who lived with Mr. and Mrs. Strauss at 1510 Wilson avenue, had been doctoring for a heart ailment, and had visited his physician on Tuesday. He was a fireman for the city of Philadelphia until time of his retirement seven years ago. He was a member of Calvary Baptist Church.

Husband of the late Mae G. Rightley Hannah, he is survived by the one daughter, Mrs. Strauss; three sons, Clarence and Samuel, Phila., and Walter, of Baltimore, Md.; a brother, Joseph; and five grandchildren.

Service will be conducted Saturday at 1.30 p. m., at the Wm. Dunn funeral home, Langhorne. Burial is to be made in Hillside Cemetery, Roslyn. Friends may call Friday evening.

NATIVITY SCENE

A nativity scene, flood-lighted, is to be seen on the grounds of Zion Lutheran Church. The picture of the Christ-child, Mary and Joseph, is flanked by pictures of the shepherds and the wise-men. A large tree on the church lawn, Jefferson avenue, is lighted each evening.

IS AIDED

Mrs. Walter Sebastian, Siles, was removed to Abington Hospital and returned yesterday in an ambulance of Trevose Heights Rescue Squad.

PROPOSED PENN VALLEY SCHOOL FOR LEVITTOWN IN FALLS TOWNSHIP

Radiant heated kindergarten floors are to be one of the many modern features of the proposed Penn Valley school to be built on the site bounded by Elderberry lane and North Turn drive, Levittown by the Falls township school board. The million dollar school will be financed through the School Authority of the Township of Falls.

Erected on the site known as the old Baker tract the proposed school contains 18 classrooms and three kindergartens. Plans are to receive alternate bids on 20 and 22 classrooms for the school. There are 24 rooms besides classrooms and kindergarten rooms, Other rooms are: music room, library, office and storage units, a 60x80 foot combination gymnasium and auditorium with a 20-foot deep stage, cafeteria, kitchen, and kitchen storage rooms, art office and storage room, physical education office and storage room.

A principal's office, health office, teacher's room, boys' and girls' lavatories, storage rooms for books and supplies, rooms for janitor's storage, chair and tool storage and boiler room.

Hints Women May Be Freed of Dishwashing

Dr. William E. Hanford, who spent his boyhood and youth in Bristol, gives a hint to the house-wife that the future may mean "no dish-washing".

The problem of dish-washing may be completely eliminated from the home of the future, according to Dr. Hanford, whose mother is Mrs. Irene Hanford, Albany, N. Y., formerly of Bristol.

Dr. Hanford, vice president in charge of research and development for the M. W. Kellogg Company, and who resides with his wife and son at Short Hills, N. J., is engaged by that engineering firm as a chemist.

The promise of dish-washing possibly being eliminated from house-hold chores, stems from the fact that "complete meals may be packed in plastic bags insulated with a chemical producted to be refrigerated and cooked without opening."

"The house-wife will then simply split the plastic casing and place the whole meal—bag and all—into a holder for serving, making pots, pans, and dishes unnecessary", the former Bristol resident, adds.

Released Under Bail On Bogus Check Charge

Mrs. Frieda A. Stotz Alleged To Have Passed Number of Such Checks

DOYLESTOWN, Dec. 18—Charged with issuing worthless checks, bail was increased Tuesday for Mrs. Frieda A. Stotz, Buckingham, when hearing was conducted.

Mrs. Stotz had been arrested by Sgt. K. R. Tutt, Doylestown police department. She was held under $1,000 bail until hearing Tuesday before Justice of the Peace B. Frank Brunner. At that time she made no statement, upon advice of her attorney. Further hearing was set for Dec. 29th, and bail increased to $2500. Mrs. Stotz provided bail and was released under that sum.

Chief of Police Felix R. Gowan said that on November 6th a check for $50 was passed at the Acme store. On December 5th two checks were passed at Doylestown National Bank & Trust Co., one for $48 and the other $45, December 6th another $35 check was pased at the Acme, and on Dec. 10th a $50 check was passed at the Doylestown Trust Co.

When the defendant appeared in the Doylestown Trust Co. on Dec. 12, Mrs. Rexford Brown, before cashing the check, said: "I will have to check the account."

Mrs. Stotz is said to have hurriedly left the bank and Doylestown policemen were called.

Taken into custody by Sgt. Tutt, the defendant admitted she had no account at Doylestown Trust Co., and that she used fictitious names in writing out the checks. "I needed the money to pay bills," was her excuse at the time of her arrest.

Her husband wanted to make resitution immediately but the defendant was held for a hearing.

Santa Claus Has Really Come To This Town

Has Filled Store Windows With Wonderful Gifts In a Gay Fashion

Santa Claus came to town! He came to Mill street and decorated the store windows in grand fashion. His visit to Mill street came a little before Christmas day, as usual, but it was to invite you to partake of the holiday spirit while you shop in the stores full of Christmas gifts.

Flakes of snow on the window of the Bucks Floor Covering Company combine with a holiday wreath on the door to lend the Christmas touch to this store front.

But did you see the snow man at Grants? The one with the red button nose, and the plack top-hat. The snowman with the red-striped candy cane. You see him first in Grants show window, surrounded by dolls and toys. Then, inside, on every column he is smiling down at holiday shoppers.

In Woler's a two dimensional Kriss Kringle stands behind one of the television sets in the row fronting the window.

Hazards Increase In Holiday Season

HARRISBURG, Dec. 18—Excitement over the holiday season adds to normal hazards, State Police warned today.

"The mixture of normal and holiday activities during Christmas-time presents an additional holiday hazard," said Colonel C. M. Wilhelm, State Police Commissioner.

"Last minute shopping, home celebrations, distracting holiday sights and sounds, crowded streets and hurrying pedestrians and motorists, add up to a greater danger on the highways."

None of these items by itself presents an unusual hazard, but put them all together and they result in heedlessness that often makes people more careless than usual, the Commissioner pointed out.

Colonel Wilhelm urged all motorists to make courtesy the keynote of their holiday activities, making full allowances for unfavorable weather conditions and additional traffic.

Jesse Wilson, Andalusia, Is Found Dead in Bed

Neighbors Fail to See Him About and Relatives Gain Entrance to House

ANDALUSIA, Dec. 18—A resident here for the past 35 years, Jesse Wilson, 68, of Richardson avenue, was found dead in bed last evening at 6.45.

Mr. Wilson had resided alone for the past 13 years. When neighbors did not see him about yesterday, William Campbell, a relative, Cornwells Heights, and Harry Richardson, Andalusia, brother-in-law of the deceased, climbed on the roof of the kitchen to look in a bedroom window. They saw that Mr. Wilson was in bed. Entrance was made by breaking a door. A physician was summoned, also Bucks County Coroner Russell J. T. Ferris, Ottsville, who attributed death due to a heart attack. It is believed Mr. Wilson died sometime Tuesday night.

Mr. Wilson operated a small chicken and egg delivery route. He was a member of the Bristol Lodge, No. 25, F. & A. M.

He was husband of the late Ethel Wilson. Survivors are: a nephew, Herbert Bryson, Phila.; nieces, Mrs. Phillip McGee, Mrs. John Ferguson, Mrs. Jean Crawford, Mrs. Howard Miller, Mrs. Robert Swartz, Phila.; Mrs. Thomas Adams, Eddington; Mrs. William Campbell, Cornwells Heights.

Continue Trial For Keller, Charge of Assault, Battery

Withdraw Charge of Resisting Arrest, Ignore One Other Charge

DOYLESTOWN, Dec. 18 — Trial for James Edward Keller, 26, a worker employed at Levittown, charged with assault and battery, is being continued today.

President Judge Hiram H. Keller is hearing the case which stems from the alleged striking of the chief of Falls Township police, Franklin Kirby, by James Keller.

A charge against Keller of resisting arrest was withdrawn and a charge of aggravated assault and battery was ignored by the Grand Jury.

According to testimony heard yesterday Keller was driving his car along Emilie-Fallsington road near Fallsington, on the evening of September 28. While passing a police car it was necessary to slow down almost to a stop and when the cars passed Joseph Kish, Falls township patrolman, in the police car, said that he called over to Keller, "Would you mind dimming your lights?" Officer William McCue was in the car with Kish.

According to Kish, Keller made some remark in answer. Then, the testimony continued, the police went and complained to Franklin Kirby, Falls township police chief. He accompanied the two officers back to where Keller was then operating a bulldozer.

Kirby testified that Keller tried to run over him with the bulldozer.

Mrs. Stotz had been arrested by Sgt. K. R. Tutt, Doylestown police department. She was held under $1,000 bail until hearing Tuesday before Justice of the Peace B. Frank Brunner. At that time she made no statement, upon advice of her attorney. Further hearing was set for Dec. 29th, and bail increased to $2500. Mrs. Stotz provided bail and was released under that sum.

Chief of Police Felix R. Gowan said that on November 6th a check for $50 was passed at the Acme store. On December 5th two checks were passed at Doylestown National Bank & Trust Co., one for $48 and the other $45. December 6th another $35 check was pased at the Acme, and on Dec. 10th a $50 check was passed at the Doylestown Trust Co.

When the defendant appeared in the Doylestown Trust Co. on Dec. 12, Mrs. Rexford Brown, before cashing the check, said: "I will have to check the account."

Mrs. Stotz is said to have hurriedly left the bank and Doylestown policemen were called.

Taken into custody by Sgt. Tutt, the defendant admitted she had no account at Doylestown Trust Co., and that she used fictitious names in writing out the checks. "I needed the money to pay bills," was her excuse at the time of her arrest.

Her husband wanted to make resitution immediately but the defendant was held for a hearing.

Hudson Announces Freshly-Styled Series

The Hudson Motor Car Company announces its line of 1953 cars—three freshly styled series which include the Hudson Hornet, record-smashing performer in stock car races, and two lower-priced running mates, the Hudson Super Wasp and the Hudson Wasp. All have new interior styling, Hudson's exclusive "step-down" design for the lowest center of gravity of any American car, and Hudson's Monobilt body-and-frame for greater safety and durability.

The new Hudsons are being displayed to the public in Fleming's showroom, Route 13 and Fourth avenue.

The 1953 Hudsons have sleek, low sweeping lines and road-hugging appearance made possible only by Hudson's famed "step-down" design. With lavish interiors, a new array of sparkling colors in solid

SANTA'S SCHEDULE FOR SATURDAY

Santa Claus is "all set" for his trek through lower Bucks county on Saturday. In fact his bag is packed—crammed full with 30,000 lolly-pops.

Knowing that every kiddie has a "sweet tooth", Santa decided that lolly-pops would be received with "open hands". So he stocked up with 30,000.

Wrapped around some of the lolly-pop sticks will be certificates which the lucky finders can exchange for gifts in local stores.

His schedule for the day is as follows:

8:30 —3M Airport	Santa Arrives
9:15- 9:30—State Rd., Croydon	Business Ctr., Cedar Ave.
9:45-10:15—Andalusia School	At School

Santa Claus Has Really Come To This Town

Has Filled Store Windows With Wonderful Gifts In a Gay Fashion

Santa Claus came to town! He came to Mill street and decorated the store windows in grand fashion. His visit to Mill street came a little before Christmas day, as usual, but it was to invite you to partake of the holiday spirit while you shop in the stores full of Christmas gifts.

Flakes of snow on the window of the Bucks Floor Covering Company combine with a holiday wreath on the door to lend the Christmas touch to this store front.

But did you see the snow man at Grants? The one with the red button nose, and the plack top-hat. The snowman with the red-striped candy cane. You see him first in Grants show window, surrounded by dolls and toys. Then, inside, on every column he is smiling down at holiday shoppers.

In Woler's a two dimensional Kriss Kringle stands behind one of the television sets in the row fronting the window.

Two Change Pleas In the County Courts

Two Are: James M. Hope, Morrisville; Alice T. Schumacher, Newportville

DOYLESTOWN, Dec. 18 — Pleas were changed by two individuals who appeared in court here this week, the pleas being from "not guilty" to "guilty".

James Munley Hope, Morrisville, who changed his mind and pleaded guilty to assault and battery, after a jury had been drawn, was given a suspended prison sentence by Judge Edwin H. Satterthwaite, who placed him on probation for 23 months.

"Your chief trouble is drink," said Judge Satterthwaite to the defendant, who was also directed to pay the costs of prosecution.

The defendant, who admitted having served seven out of a 12-year sentence in the New Jersey State Prison in connection with a robbery charge, admitted he always

8 in Family Perish in Fire

Little Rock, Ark.—Tragedy has struck a Little Rock home where eight members of a family perished in a fire. Only 12-year-old Shirley Bryant is alive today to testify to the holocaust which wrecked her home and burned to death her parents and six brothers and sisters. She herself suffered serious burns.

Shatter Huge Red Troop Concentration

Seoul—Swarms of Allied fighter-bombers shattered a huge Red troop concentration in northwest Korea today while screening Sabrejets downed one MIG-15 and damaged another in a furious air battle. The fighter-bombers destroyed 70 buildings and damaged 30 others in a raid on Red troop assembly area 20 miles south of Pyongyang, the North Korean capital.

Accuse Turnpike Commission

Philadelphia—The Whitemarsh Township zoning board accused the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission today of "illegally" carrying on plans to run an extension through Fort Washington Park, and vowed a continuous fight against the proposal.

Cut Military Construction Costs 40%

Paris—The Atlantic Defense and Finance Ministers cut military construction costs 40 percent today.

French Defense Minister Rene Pleven said the whole period of military preparation is being stretched out.

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Allied Supreme Commander, had proposed a total expenditure of 420 million dollars for the entire so-called infrastructure program.

Hazards Increase In Holiday Season

HARRISBURG, Dec. 18—Excitement over the holiday season adds to normal hazards, State Police warned today.

"The mixture of normal and holiday activities during Christmas-time presents an additional holiday hazard," said Colonel C. M. Wilhelm, State Police Commissioner.

"Last minute shopping, home celebrations, distracting holiday sights and sounds, crowded streets and hurrying pedestrians and motorists, add up to a greater danger on the highways."

None of these items by itself presents an unusual hazard, but put them all together and they result in heedlessness that often makes people more careless than usual, the Commissioner pointed out.

Colonel Wilhelm urged all motorists to make courtesy the keynote of their holiday activities, making full allowances for unfavorable weather conditions and additional traffic.

Jesse Wilson, Andalusia, Is Found Dead in Bed

Neighbors Fail to See Him About and Relatives Gain Entrance to House

ANDALUSIA, Dec. 18—A resident here for the past 35 years, Jesse Wilson, 68, of Richardson avenue, was found dead in bed last evening at 6.45.

Mr. Wilson had resided alone for the past 13 years. When neighbors did not see him about yesterday, William Campbell, a relative, Cornwells Heights, and Harry Richardson, Andalusia, brother-in-law of the deceased, climbed on the roof of the kitchen to look in a bedroom window. They saw that Mr. Wilson was in bed. Entrance was made by breaking a door. A physician was summoned, also Bucks County Coroner Russell J. T. Ferris, Ottsville, who attributed death due to a heart attack. It is believed Mr. Wilson died sometime Tuesday night.

Mr. Wilson operated a small chicken and egg delivery route. He was a member of the Bristol Lodge, No. 25, F. & A. M.

He was husband of the late Ethel Wilson. Survivors are: a nephew, Herbert Bryson, Phila.; nieces, Mrs. Phillip McGee, Mrs. John Ferguson, Mrs. Jean Crawford, Mrs. Howard Miller, Mrs. Robert Swartz, Phila.; Mrs. Thomas Adams, Eddington; Mrs. William Campbell, Cornwells Heights.

New Plumbing Law Considered for State

All Phases of The New Regulation Discussed At Meeting

HARRISBURG, Dec. 18 — A proposed new Public Health Plumbing Law for Pennsylvania was studied here yesterday by State Health Department officials, representatives of organized business and labor, municipal associations and professional groups. The meeting was held in the Health Department Conference Room, South Office Building.

State Secretary of Health, Dr. Russell E. Teague, who presided, discussed the need for an orderly system of protecting the public health as it is affected by the installation of sanitary plumbing equipment and facilities throughout the State.

The proposed measure, as sug-

Continue Trial For Keller, Charge of Assault, Battery

Withdraw Charge of Resisting Arrest, Ignore One Other Charge

DOYLESTOWN, Dec. 18 — Trial for James Edward Keller, 26, a worker employed at Levittown, charged with assault and battery, is being continued today.

President Judge Hiram H. Keller is hearing the case which stems from the alleged striking of the chief of Falls Township police, Franklin Kirby, by James Keller.

A charge against Keller of resisting arrest was withdrawn and a charge of aggravated assault and battery was ignored by the Grand Jury.

According to testimony heard yesterday Keller was driving his car along Emilie-Fallsington road near Fallsington, on the evening of September 28. While passing a police car it was necessary to slow down almost to a stop and when the cars passed Joseph Kish, Falls township patrolman, in the police car, said that he called over to Keller, "Would you mind dimming your lights?" Officer William McCue was in the car with Kish.

According to Kish, Keller made some remark in answer. Then, the testimony continued, the police went and complained to Franklin Kirby, Falls township police chief. He accompanied the two officers back to where Keller was then operating a bulldozer.

Kirby testified that Keller tried to run over him with the bulldozer.

To Start Southampton School Early in Spring

Construction of Elementary Wing Definitely Assured To the Community

LOWER SOUTHAMPTON TWP. Dec. 18—Construction of the new wing of the Lower Southampton Elementary school will begin early next spring, according to John E. Paul, school board member.

Paul said that four of the requested 10 rooms are definitely assured because of state approval that has already been obtained. He said that it was reasonable to expect that approval of the remaining six rooms would be forthcoming. He said that final approval of the entire wing was hoped for in about six weeks.

TWO SIDES TO THE MOON

There are two schools of thought among experts, it seems, on this question of how soon man can make a serious start at conquering space. The more optimistic school—which is very conservative indeed compared to the comic books—thinks that by spending $4,000,000,000 it will be possible to have a space satellite circling the earth in 10 years.

This satellite in due course could serve as filling station and take-off point for trips to the moon. From the moon, after acquiring more experience and knowledge, there might be flights to Mars and Venus. This school headed by former Nazi N-2 expert Wehrner von Braun, impatiently rejects any suggestion that the sky's the limit.

But Dr. Milton Rosen, head of the Navy's Viking project, feels that it may be a long, long time before man gets anywhere near the moon. There are too many factors which are known that can go wrong, and more that are not known. The margin of safety is too small. Until science makes new discoveries to ease some of the difficulties, Rosen is convinced that the kind of projects Von Braun has outlined in some detail will amount to sheer suicide for the first rocket traveler.

Rocket motors are tricky things. To make 51 of them work together, as Von Braun proposes, would mean overcoming very long odds. If a single one failed, the whole rocket would fail. Parachutes would be useless.

Human bodies, reasonably hardy under earth-bound conditions, would be a still bigger problem in space. Nothing like a practicable space suit for the all-but-absolute vacuum beyond the earth's atmosphere has been devised, Rosen believes. The best thing now possible, in his opinion, is some kind of rigid enclosure equipped with remote control devices.

The human body, in space, would be the target of deadly radiations, of unearthly heat and unearthly cold. It would have to learn to function without atmospheric pressure and without gravity. The tiniest leak or blowhole would admit inexorable death.

There are two sides to the moon—one hot enough to vaporize water, the other cold enough to liquify atmospheric gases. There are also two sides to the question of how and when man will get there.

Pittsburgh woman who seeks $2,400 a month alimony just to pay household bills is obviously not a vegetarian.

In the good old days an enterprise was started occasionally without a billion dollars of government money to finance it.

Some of the boys who sounded as if they would have to be coaxed to join Eisenhower's cabinet are now busily engaged in unpacking their bags.

Continue Trial for Keller

He testified that Keller kicked him in the neck and eye, and that it was necessary to subdue Keller.

Theodore Cohen, Morrisville physician, testified that when he examined Keller following the altercation, Keller had a cut 1½ inches long on his neck, and Chief Kirby had a bruised neck.

The defendant denied using abusive language. He said that he didn't swear or use abusive language, and said that when he went to work the officers' car was blocking the driveway and he asked them "Will you please move that thing?" He said "somebody" threw something at him and hit him on the back of the head.

Jean Ely is reported to have been in Keller's car at the time of the incident, and said that she saw some of what had happened.

New Plumbing Law

gested by various sources, was discussed. In the discussion it was stressed that the law would adhere strictly to home rule principles in placing the responsibility for the maintenance of high plumbing standards, on the municipalities with the State acting in a supervisory capacity, with few exceptions, and generally only in the event a municipality failed to accept its responsibility in the matter.

Requirements governing plumbing and house and building drainage in all the cities, boroughs, towns and townships of the Commonwealth are stipulated in the proposed law. Provisions are included for inspection of such work, and enforcement of the law. The State Department of Health, and municipal officials designated as its agents, would be empowered to provide for the examination, licensure and registration of persons, firms, corporations and authorities engaged in plumbing or house and building drainage.

There was general agreement on the necessity for such a law by those at the meeting. It was decided to make a further study of it before submitting the bill at the next session of the Pennsylvania General Assembly.

Hulmeville PTA Gives $150 for School Projects

HULMEVILLE, Dec. 18 — The sum of $150 was allocated for projects last evening at the meeting of Hulmeville - Middletown Parent-Teacher Association, with a Christmas party featuring the latter portion of the evening. Members gathered in the school house.

The party portion of the affair included gift exchange and games, with Mrs. Theodore Cochran in charge. Prizes were given winners of the games. Carols were sung by the group. Making their way to the cafeteria, refreshments were served members by Mrs. Wesley Peters, Mrs. Raymond Lindsey, and Mrs. Robert Bloodgood. Ice cream, variety of cakes, cookies, candy, tea, coffee, were served. The tables were redolent with Christmas decorations, and the refreshments carried out the holiday theme. Variety of small favors were at each place.

Mrs. Vincent Latham, president, read the Christmas story from the Bible. Minutes were read by Miss Irma Peoples; and treasurer's report given by Miss Margaret Perry. Letter of appreciation was read from Pennhurst State School for Retarded Children, acknowledging gift of $10 toward the children's Christmas party.

Women of the association plan to scrape paint in the basement room during the holidays, preparatory to having the walls re-surfaced.

Arrangements were made for transportation to the luncheon at Hatboro on January 8th, members providing cars.

Miss Perry, head of the project committee, announced projects suggested by several. The sum of $100 was voted toward film strips and cabinets for the same; and $50 for remedial reading books. Tentative arrangements were made to secure radios for Mrs. Charlotte Walsh's and Miss Peoples' rooms. Principal Frank Binder, who gave information on the remedial reading books, also announced his 5th grade as winner of attendance award.

Possibility of conducting a demonstration luncheon in Hulmeville within a few months was discussed. This matter is to be considered further.

TWO SIDES TO THE MOON

There are two schools of thought among experts, it seems, on this question of how soon man can make a serious start at conquering space. The more optimistic school—which is very conservative indeed compared to the comic books—thinks that by spending $4,000,000,000 it will be possible to have a space satellite circling the earth in 10 years.

This satellite in due course could serve as filling station and take-off point for trips to the moon. From the moon, after acquiring more experience and knowledge, there might be flights to Mars and Venus. This school headed by former Nazi N-2 expert Wehrner von Braun, impatiently rejects any suggestion that the sky's the limit.

But Dr. Milton Rosen, head of the Navy's Viking project, feels that it may be a long, long time before man gets anywhere near the moon. There are too many factors which are known that can go wrong, and more that are not known. The margin of safety is too small. Until science makes new discoveries to ease some of the difficulties, Rosen is convinced that the kind of projects Von Braun has outlined in some detail will amount to sheer suicide for the first rocket traveler.

Rocket motors are tricky things. To make 51 of them work together, as Von Braun proposes, would mean overcoming very long odds. If a single one failed, the whole rocket would fail. Parachutes would be useless.

Human bodies, reasonably hardy under earth-bound conditions, would be a still bigger problem in space. Nothing like a practicable space suit for the all-but-absolute vacuum beyond the earth's atmosphere has been devised, Rosen believes. The best thing now possible, in his opinion, is some kind of rigid enclosure equipped with remote control devices.

The human body, in space, would be the target of deadly radiations, of unearthly heat and unearthly cold. It would have to learn to function without atmospheric pressure and without gravity. The tiniest leak or blowhole would admit inexorable death.

There are two sides to the moon—one hot enough to vaporize water, the other cold enough to liquify atmospheric gases. There are also two sides to the question of how and when man will get there.

Pittsburgh woman who seeks $2,400 a month alimony just to pay household bills is obviously not a vegetarian.

In the good old days an enterprise was started occasionally without a billion dollars of government money to finance it.

Some of the boys who sounded as if they would have to be coaxed to join Eisenhower's cabinet are now busily engaged in unpacking their bags.

Continue Trial for Keller

He testified that Keller kicked him in the neck and eye, and that it was necessary to subdue Keller.

Theodore Cohen, Morrisville physician, testified that when he examined Keller following the altercation, Keller had a cut 1½ inches long on his neck, and Chief Kirby had a bruised neck.

The defendant denied using abusive language. He said that he didn't swear or use abusive language, and said that when he went to work the officers' car was blocking the driveway and he asked them "Will you please move that thing?" He said "somebody" threw something at him and hit him on the back of the head.

Jean Ely is reported to have been in Keller's car at the time of the incident, and said that she saw some of what had happened.

New Plumbing Law

gested by various sources, was discussed. In the discussion it was stressed that the law would adhere strictly to home rule principles in placing the responsibility for the maintenance of high plumbing standards, on the municipalities with the State acting in a supervisory capacity, with few exceptions, and generally only in the event a municipality failed to accept its responsibility in the matter.

Requirements governing plumbing and house and building drainage in all the cities, boroughs, towns and townships of the Commonwealth are stipulated in the proposed law. Provisions are included for inspection of such work, and enforcement of the law. The State Department of Health, and municipal officials designated as its agents, would be empowered to provide for the examination, licensure and registration of persons, firms, corporations and authorities engaged in plumbing or house and building drainage.

There was general agreement on the necessity for such a law by those at the meeting. It was decided to make a further study of it before submitting the bill at the next session of the Pennsylvania General Assembly.

Hulmeville PTA Gives $150 for School Projects

HULMEVILLE, Dec. 18 — The sum of $150 was allocated for projects last evening at the meeting of Hulmeville - Middletown Parent-Teacher Association, with a Christmas party featuring the latter portion of the evening. Members gathered in the school house.

The party portion of the affair included gift exchange and games, with Mrs. Theodore Cochran in charge. Prizes were given winners of the games. Carols were sung by the group. Making their way to the cafeteria, refreshments were served members by Mrs. Wesley Peters, Mrs. Raymond Lindsey, and Mrs. Robert Bloodgood. Ice cream, variety of cakes, cookies, candy, tea, coffee, were served. The tables were redolent with Christmas decorations, and the refreshments carried out the holiday theme. Variety of small favors were at each place.

Mrs. Vincent Latham, president, read the Christmas story from the Bible. Minutes were read by Miss Irma Peoples; and treasurer's report given by Miss Margaret Perry. Letter of appreciation was read from Pennhurst State School for Retarded Children, acknowledging gift of $10 toward the children's Christmas party.

Women of the association plan to scrape paint in the basement room during the holidays, preparatory to having the walls re-surfaced.

Arrangements were made for transportation to the luncheon at Hatboro on January 8th, members providing cars.

Miss Perry, head of the project committee, announced projects suggested by several. The sum of $100 was voted toward film strips and cabinets for the same; and $50 for remedial reading books. Tentative arrangements were made to secure radios for Mrs. Charlotte Walsh's and Miss Peoples' rooms. Principal Frank Binder, who gave information on the remedial reading books, also announced his 5th grade as winner of attendance award.

Possibility of conducting a demonstration luncheon in Hulmeville within a few months was discussed. This matter is to be considered further.

NEWTOWN

Hugh Raymond, 3d., infant son of Dr. and Mrs. Hugh R. Manahan, received sacrament of baptism Sunday morning in Newtown Presbyterian Church. Gay Carleton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Carleton, Stamford, Conn.; on Sunday received the sacrament of baptism in the same church. Mrs. Carlelon is the daughter of Mrs. Miriam Vandegrift, she and her husband have just moved to Connecticut.

Members of Cub Pack, No. 20, will meet December 19 at eight p. m. in Neshaminy Valley Youth Center with Cubmaster Edward Mann presiding. A Christmas party with "movies" and refreshments will feature. On the committee are Charles Swartz, Jr., Walter Evans, Andrew H. Dillman, Harry Pfeiffer, Charles Eley, C. Lawrence Cushmore, Jr., and E. H. Robertston. Anyone having usable toys to be distributed by the Cubs at Christmas time, may take them to the Center Friday evening or Saturday morning.

NEWS OF SCHOOLS IN AREA---

All public, private and parochial schools in the Bristol area are invited to send news items for publication in this column which appears frequently.

Bensalem Township Elementary Schools

Andalusia School

The Christmas spirit has descended upon the Andalusia elementary school as all of the grades busily prepare for the festive season. The main bulletin board on the first floor is decorated with pictures of Christmas toys made by the first and second graders, who are hopefully awaiting Santa's visit. The main bulletin board in the basement holds a painting of the nativity done by Mrs. Walter's sixth grade. The fifth graders at Trevose are exhibiting in the display case at Andalusia several trays done with black backgrounds and colorful raised tempera designs.

Mrs. Evelyn Walters' class is planning a Christmas program to be presented to the parents on Monday, December 22, at one o'clock. The program will consist of two plays, "The Twenty-Fourth Candle" and "Man on the Street." Following the play will be a guitar solo by Betty McCartney. Bobby Filer will play the ukuele and a flute quartet will furnish additional musical selections.

Further entertainment will be provided by a chorus, singing Christmas carols. Providing dancing for the program will be Elaine Winch and Sandra Richardson.

Following the program, tea and cookies will be served to the guests.

Miss Clineff's fifth grade is planning a short play entitled "Yuletide Solution." This is to be held on Tuesday, December 23, in connection with the class Christmas party.

The carol singers from both sixth grades at Andalusia will have a repertoire of Christmas selections to be rendered in the corridors of the school on Tuesday morning. The group will sing under the direction of Mrs. Isabelle Doehne, music instructor for the Township elementary schools.

Each Friday morning, the safety patrol, under the direction of John Whare and Patrick Flaherty, meet in the school yard for the raising of the flag. The group stand at attention while the flag is raised and then participate in the saluting of the flag and the singing of a patriotic song. This finished, the patrols repeat their pledge and remain at attention while inspection is held. Following this, assignments are given for the following week. The safety patrol is doing a fine job in helping to protect pupils during the school day.

Mrs. Ruth Morris, Cornwells; Mrs. Isabelle Doehne, Trevose, and elementary Supervisor, Mrs. Elsie Morgan, attended the second meeting of the Philadelphia Area School Study Council held at Doylestown recently. The Northeastern Division of the Council has chosen "Guidance in the Elementary School" as its topic for study this school year.

HULMEVILLE

Donald Zarr will arrive from West Chester State Teachers College tomorrow to spend the Christmas and New Year holidays with his parents, Justice of the Peace and Mrs. George Zarr.

On Sunday, Mrs. Harry Gebiche, of Penndel, and Mrs. Leonard Davis and daughter Patricia will make a trip to Norristown, where they will pay a visit to Miss Blanche Blittle.

Brownies of Hulmeville troop will carol on Sunday afternoon at the homes of some local shut-ins. They will meet at Neshamony Methodist Church at 11 a. m., visit the homes of the shut-ins, then go to the residence of Mrs. Louis Goll for refreshments. Mrs. Alexander Seymour and Mrs. Grace Sargent, who conducted a bake sale for the Brownies, report the affair a success.

Three officers of Hulmeville school board were re-elected at Monday evening's meeting in the school house. They are: President, Edward M. Linforth; vice-president, Dr. N. P. Larson; treasurer, Lester D. Spill. The present secretary is Mrs. Willard Bartoe.

REST SHOES

Your shoes will give you longer and better wear if you give them regular rest. Detailed tests by leading shoe manufacturers have shown that two pairs of leather shoes alternated daily will last more than twice as long as the same shoes worn one pair at a time.

NEWPORTVILLE

Cub Pack, No. 44, held a Christmas party in Newportville Fire Co. station Tuesday evening. Cubs and parents attended. Alvin Cowles and Walter Pooley presided. A tree was decorated by the Cubs, one den participating at a time. The items were made by the boys. Each Cub hung a candy cane on the tree. Den four Cubs presented gifts, which they made, to their parents. Cubs exchanged gifts and games were played. Winners of the pretzel game, Charles Shagg and Wayne Saunders; buzz game, Douglas Bowker. Ice cream, beverages, pretzels, potato chips and candy bars were enjoyed. A meeting for all den mothers, committee members and parents will be held Jan. 6th in Newportville Church at 7.30 p. m.

Fergusonville Girls' Club held a meeting and Christmas party Wednesday evening. The new officers took charge. There will be no sessions until Jan. 7th and on that date there will be a party for the January birthday celebrants. The girls exchanged gifts and singing was enjoyed. Games were played and prizes awarded. Ice cream and pretzels were enjoyed by 14.

VALUABLE FRANCHISE FREE FOR A BUSINESS OF YOUR OWN

To the right man with about 2 years direct selling background, this National organization is ready to offer a valuable franchise for one of the world's largest & fastest selling items.

This is not house-to-house selling. Leads furnished.

If you are in a "dead-end" job handling direct-selling items of cookware, silver, vacuum cleaners; if you have the ability to hire & train men & women for selling direct in homes; then here is the opportunity for you to move right into a position that will gross you out-of-the ordinary earnings. The man selected will pay nothing for the franchise. Man should be between 25 and 30.

During the 4 week training period, out of town, a guaranteed drawing account will be paid.

You will be given a sales aptitude test; must have excellent appearance; have car; be bondable.

Bring your wife if possible. No phone calls will be taken. The test will start promptly at 2 P. M. Saturday, Dec. 20th, and will be followed by personal interview. Apply

NEWS OF SCHOOLS IN AREA...

All public, private and parochial schools in the Bristol area are invited to send news items for publication in this column which appears frequently.

Bensalem Township Elementary Schools

Andalusia School

The Christmas spirit has descended upon the Andalusia elementary school as all of the grades busily prepare for the festive season. The main bulletin board on the first floor is decorated with pictures of Christmas toys made by the first and second graders, who are hopefully awaiting Santa's visit. The main bulletin board in the basement holds a painting of the nativity done by Mrs. Walter's sixth grade. The fifth graders at Trevose are exhibiting in the display case at Andalusia several trays done with black backgrounds and colorful raised tempera designs.

Mrs. Evelyn Walters' class is planning a Christmas program to be presented to the parents on Monday, December 22, at one o'clock. The program will consist of two plays, "The Twenty-Fourth Candle" and "Man on the Street." Following the play will be a guitar solo by Betty McCartney. Bobby Filer will play the ukuele and a flute quartet will furnish additional musical selections.

Further entertainment will be provided by a chorus, singing Christmas carols. Providing dancing for the program will be Elaine Winch and Sandra Richardson.

Following the program, tea and cookies will be served to the guests.

Miss Clineff's fifth grade is planning a short play entitled "Yuletide Solution." This is to be held on Tuesday, December 23, in connection with the class Christmas party.

The carol singers from both sixth grades at Andalusia will have a repertoire of Christmas selections to be rendered in the corridors of the school on Tuesday morning. The group will sing under the direction of Mrs. Isabelle Doehne, music instructor for the Township elementary schools.

Each Friday morning, the safety patrol, under the direction of John Whare and Patrick Flaherty, meet in the school yard for the raising of the flag. The group stand at attention while the flag is raised and then participate in the saluting of the flag and the singing of a patriotic song. This finished, the patrols repeat their pledge and remain at attention while inspection is held. Following this, assignments are given for the following week. The safety patrol is doing a fine job in helping to protect pupils during the school day.

Mrs. Ruth Morris, Cornwells; Mrs. Isabelle Doehne, Trevose, and elementary Supervisor, Mrs. Elsie Morgan, attended the second meeting of the Philadelphia Area School Study Council held at Doylestown recently. The Northeastern Division of the Council has chosen "Guidance in the Elementary School" as its topic for study this school year.

HULMEVILLE

Donald Zarr will arrive from West Chester State Teachers College tomorrow to spend the Christmas and New Year holidays with his parents, Justice of the Peace and Mrs. George Zarr.

On Sunday, Mrs. Harry Gebiche, of Penndel, and Mrs. Leonard Davis and daughter Patricia will make a trip to Norristown, where they will pay a visit to Miss Blanche Blittle.

Brownies of Hulmeville troop will carol on Sunday afternoon at the homes of some local shut-ins. They will meet at Neshamony Methodist Church at 11 a. m., visit the homes of the shut-ins, then go to the residence of Mrs. Louis Goll for refreshments. Mrs. Alexander Seymour and Mrs. Grace Sargent, who conducted a bake sale for the Brownies, report the affair a success.

Three officers of Hulmeville school board were re-elected at Monday evening's meeting in the school house. They are: President, Edward M. Linforth; vice-president, Dr. N. P. Larson; treasurer, Lester D. Spill. The present secretary is Mrs. Willard Bartoe.

REST SHOES

Your shoes will give you longer and better wear if you give them regular rest. Detailed tests by leading shoe manufacturers have shown that two pairs of leather shoes alternated daily will last more than twice as long as the same shoes worn one pair at a time.

NEWPORTVILLE

Cub Pack, No. 44, held a Christmas party in Newportville Fire Co. station Tuesday evening. Cubs and parents attended. Alvin Cowles and Walter Pooley presided. A tree was decorated by the Cubs, one den participating at a time. The items were made by the boys. Each Cub hung a candy cane on the tree. Den four Cubs presented gifts, which they made, to their parents. Cubs exchanged gifts and games were played. Winners of the pretzel game, Charles Shagg and Wayne Saunders; buzz game, Douglas Bowker. Ice cream, beverages, pretzels, potato chips and candy bars were enjoyed. A meeting for all den mothers, committee members and parents will be held Jan. 6th in Newportville Church at 7.30 p. m.

Fergusonville Girls' Club held a meeting and Christmas party Wednesday evening. The new officers took charge. There will be no sessions until Jan. 7th and on that date there will be a party for the January birthday celebrants. The girls exchanged gifts and singing was enjoyed. Games were played and prizes awarded. Ice cream and pretzels were enjoyed by 14.

VALUABLE FRANCHISE FREE FOR A BUSINESS OF YOUR OWN

To the right man with about 2 years direct selling background, this National organization is ready to offer a valuable franchise for one of the world's largest & fastest selling items.

This is not house-to-house selling. Leads furnished.

If you are in a "dead-end" job handling direct-selling items of cookware, silver, vacuum cleaners; if you have the ability to hire & train men & women for selling direct in homes; then here is the opportunity for you to move right into a position that will gross you out-of-the ordinary earnings. The man selected will pay nothing for the franchise. Man should be between 25 and 30.

During the 4 week training period, out of town, a guaranteed drawing account will be paid.

You will be given a sales aptitude test; must have excellent appearance; have car; be bondable.

Bring your wife if possible. No phone calls will be taken. The test will start promptly at 2 P. M. Saturday, Dec. 20th, and will be followed by personal interview. Apply

MERRY CHRISTMAS

'Christmas in Bristol—1776" To Again Be Staged Locally

The annual Christmas party of the Travel Club will be held tomorrow evening in the club home at eight o'clock. Club members and their guests will witness a play, entitled "Christmas in Bristol—1776." This play, written by Anne Hawkes Hutton, was originally presented Christmas, 1944, and is being repeated by request. The cast is composed entirely of members of the club, and Mrs. Joseph Korz is directing the play. Mrs. Paul J. Forster has charge of properties and Mrs. Albert M. Dowden will be the piano accompanist.

Hostesses of the evening will be Mrs. Adolph Ancker and Mrs. Frank Lehman; and refreshments will be served by the social committee, of which Mrs. Horace N. Davis, Jr., and Mrs. Charles McLaughlin are co-chairmen.

Two Games Booked In Cage League On Rohm & Haas Floor

Two games will be played in the Bristol Basketball League tonight on the Rohm & Haas floor. In the opener, starting at seven-fifteen o'clock ,Hilltop A. C. will meet Kaiser Metal while in the nightcap, the Rohm & Haas team clashes with Franklin A. C.

Hilltop recently changed managership, the team now being guided by "Jimmy" Messina, a physical education instructor at Valley Forge Hospital. Messina suffered a blow last week when three of his players were inducted into military service, namely: Bill McDonnell, Larry Auerweck, and John LeNuquet.

But Messina feels that he has molded together a squad that is capable of giving a fine account of itself. One of the players signed by Hilltop is "Sonny" Peak. Peak was gunning for the individual scoring crown last season when a member of the Cornwells Boys Club but he decided to quit basketball mid-way in the race.

Kaiser Metal, managed by Peter Harkins, has signed several boys who formerly were connected for college basketball and on paper, the aircraft workers appear to be one of the best quintets in the circuit.

Augie Everitt has taken over the reins of the Rohm & Haas team which will be shooting for an inaugural triumph. Manager Everitt has most of his team back from last season including Pat Carnvale, Chuck Klein, Bill Butz, and Walt Zook.

Franklin lost its opening game to the Celtics but since then Pete DeLuca, manager, has signed several players which will strengthen the 1951-52 champions.

BOWLING

HUNTER-WILSON BOWLING LEAGUE

The following is a list of the team standings for the Hunter-Wilson League as determined by Monday night's bowling at the Bristol Recreation Center:

Team	Won	Lost
White Label	35	21
Hunter	28	28
That's All	25	31
Black Label	24	32

The team standings for this League remained the same this week with White Label downing That's All, 4-0; and Black Label defeating Hunter, 3-1.

Individual high single: Pursell, 191
Individual high series: Pursell, 516
Team high single: Black Label, 753
Team high series: Black Label, 2159

BAG FOUR DEER

A party of four hunters, Vincent Eckert, Sr., Miriam Eckert, Second ave., West, Bristol; John Reilly, Rogers road, West Bristol; John Tomlinson, Newtown, returned Tuesday from Milford. The party bagged four deer. While in Pike county they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Broadnix.

The 8th president, Martin Van-Buren, was born Dec. 5, 1782.

Dominik is Reserve End on Syracuse U. To Play in Miami

Joe Dominik, a reserve end on the Syracuse University grid squad, will be among the 43-man team which travels to Miami, Fla., later this month to play the University of Alabama in the 19th annual Orange Bowl.

Syracuse will be out for their eighth victory of the season as against two losses. After losing to Bolling Field and top-ranked Michigan State early in the season, the Pietymen finished the season in fine style by taking their last four games in a row.

This will mark the first post-season appearance in which the Orange have participated in the 64-year history of the school. For Alabama, who brings a 9-2 record into the classic, the 1953 Orange Bowl will mark its eleventh bowl appearance.

Coach Ben Schwartzwalder and his squad arrive down in Miami shortly after Dec. 20. The team will stay at the Hotel Flamingo. The Orange coaching staff is hoping to have the squad at full strength in contrast to the rash of injuries which hit the team during the regular schedule.

Hudson Announces Three

and two-tone combinations, and the added glamour of Hudson-Aire Hardtop Styling, the '53 Hudsons are the most beautiful and luxurious in company history.

Interiors are decorator-planned to complement a wide range of exterior car colors. Trim appointments are color-harmonized with luxurious, long wearing upholstery fabrics in smart new weaves. Restyled door panels and gleaming chrome ornamention further accentuate the lavish interiors.

Seats are more comfortable, scientifically designed to give day-long riding comfort with less fatigue. Foam rubber cushions with new bolstered and rolled edge contours give leg support where needed. Seats are a full 64 inches wide, giving more shoulder, leg and hip-room than any other car.

Powered by Hudson's high-compression, L-head engines with advanced Power-Dome cylinder heads, the new Hudsons deliver peak performance under all driving conditions. These high-output, in-line engines offer exceptional durability and low upkeep costs due to super-hard chrome alloy cylinder blocks, the hardest in the industry.

Leading the 1953 Hudson line is the famous Hudson Hornet, national stock car chapion and winner of 45 races in strictly stock competition, a record never approached by any other make.

The Hudson Hornet has two lower-priced running mates for 1953, a spectacular new Hudson Super Wasp and the Hudson Wasp.

The Hudson Super Wasp offers many of the Hornet's advantages and much of the Hornet's luxury in a lower-priced bracket. It has Hudson's exclusive "step-down" design with floor recessed down within the frame and lower center of gravity, outstanding performance and Hudson-Aire Hardtop Styling.

The Super Wasp is powered by a high-compression, high-output H-127 engine. It has the superior roadability and ease of handling that characterize all Hudson cars. It has Hudson's rugged Monobilt body-and-frame construction that provides unequalled durability and greater passenger safety.

Santa Claus Has

hang red boots and pine cones. A sleigh loaded with gifts brings Christmas color to the show cabinet in the front window.

Santa dashed starts against the blue-sky background of the J. B. Wilson store, and on a silver cord he hung gifts of women's pocketbooks and apparel. Then he framed his work of art with snowy twigs and Christmas lights to guide the evening shopper to the store.

At Bristol United Drug Store the good Christmas gentleman left a likeness of himself. Near the doorway stands the lighted image, pack on back, just about to descend into the chimney of some shopper's home.

All along the block, in barber shop windows with bright red window floor coverings, and on the poles along the street on which stretch garlands of holly, Santa has come to town with bright trimmings and presents for all.

CROYDON

On Monday afternoon, representatives of the Missionary League, St. Luke's Lutheran Church, provided Christmas cheer for a group of patients at Byberry State Hospital, Phila. The afternoon's activities consisted of group singing of carols and the showing of colored pictures, depicting the birth of the Savior, narrated by Mrs. R. Showers. The festive spirit of Christmas was enhanced by the pinning of corsages on dresses of all women attending the party. A gift of Christmas goodies followed the refreshments provided by the group.

Three Children Die

porbed the ruins for more than two hours.

The dead were identified as Samuel Robinson, 4, and his two sisters, Jacqueline, 2, and Rosemarie, 4 months, children of Samuel and Mary Louise Robinson of the Borden avenue address.

Firemen, arriving minutes after the alarm was phoned in, attempted to force their way into the blazing building when they heard the dying cries of the children but were forced back by flames mushrooming from windows and doors.

"It was too hot to handle," Fire Chief Charles Sherman explained. "The windows and door of the building were blown out by the flames by the time we arrived."

The first engines on the scene found Mrs. Robinson running up and down on the front lawn crying, "My three babies are in there."

"When I turned I noticed the lights in the house were out and I remembered leaving them on," the distraught woman explained. "When I opened the back door, a large, black cloud of smoke and flame drove me back," she added.

As the mother screamed for help, a neighbor, Odell Russell, seeing the smoke billowing from the house, quickly phoned in an alarm.

The youngest child's body was found on the bed in a front room. The boy and girl were huddled together in the rear of a sofa in the living room where the blaze originated.

Police at first could not locate the third victim until the rubble was cleared away nearly two hours after the blaze was extinguished. Deputy Coroner Dr. Joseph S. Condor ordered the bodies removed to the Dade Funeral Home.

Turkey Dinner Served To The Fathers' Association

The annual Christmas dinner, with turkey as the piece de resistance, was participated in last evening by 50, including members of Fathers Association of Bristol public schools and their guests. The dinner was served in Bristol high school cafeteria, it being prepared by members of the Mothers' Association.

Blessing was asked by the Rev. Charles Carter, Jr., pastor of Bethel A. M. E. Church. A short business meeting was conducted by A. Daniel.

Entertainment in the auditorium consisted of Christmas numbers by the high school choir led by Miss Weiss; vocal solo, "O Holy Night," Joyce Versprille; quartet selection, "Silent Night," by the following faculty members: Walter Rosser, John Burriss, Philip B. Frankmore, and Anthony DiAngelo.

One of the firms whose work he inspected was Joseph Paolino, Inc., which built the Palumbo Playground at 9th and Bainbridge Sts., Fretz said. Alexander announced yesterday that a claim for about $10,000 had been filed against Paolino, of 7501 Buist Ave., for "improper or inadequate work."

On several occasions, Fretz said, he was urged by Richard J. O'Donnell, then an employee of the City Architect's office, to certify that contractors had completed more work than actually was the case. This, he explained, was to enable the contractors to collect payments from the city.

"Don't hold them up," he quoted O'Donnell, "Give them a chance."

On another occasion, he said, he wrote to John V. Smith, former chief of the Bureau of Recreation, complaining of "poor workmanship and incompetent supervision" on seven playgrounds constructed by Felix Clauss & Sons.

Harold S. Schutt, president of the water company, announced yesterday that he favored a public authority taking over the operation of the company estimated to be valued at between $65,000,000 and $70,000,000. The company serves 130,000 consumers in parts of Delaware, Chester and Montgomery county.

The company operates the Iron Works Creek reservoir on the Neshaminy Creek near Oakford. The water-shed is reported to have an area of 6.4 square miles with an estimated safe yield of 4,000,000 gallons per day.

Lewis said this morning that no definite agenda had been set for tomorrow's meeting and that only routine business was expected to be discussed.

Fellowship Hour is To Precede Youth Meeting

CHURCHVILLE, Dec. 18 — December meeting, United Christian Youth Council, will be held in the Reformed Church of North and Southampton, here, December 21st at five p. m.

The young people of this church will provide the program, which will be appropriate to the Christmas season. The young people of the council will first have a fellowship hour around the tables, with each member providing his own lunch, and the host church providing dessert. The new president, Carolyn Cramer, Richboro, will preside at the business meeting.

At a recent meeting of the Newtown Council of Churches it was decided to invite to these meetings anyone from 12 to 21.

Two Games Booked In Cage League On Rohm & Haas Floor

Two games will be played in the Bristol Basketball League tonight on the Rohm & Haas floor. In the opener, starting at seven-fifteen o'clock ,Hilltop A. C. will meet Kaiser Metal while in the nightcap, the Rohm & Haas team clashes with Franklin A. C.

Hilltop recently changed managership, the team now being guided by "Jimmy" Messina, a physical education instructor at Valley Forge Hospital. Messina suffered a blow last week when three of his players were inducted into military service, namely: Bill , McDonnell, Larry Auerweck, and John LeHaquet.

But Messina feels that he has molded together a squad that is capable of giving a fine account of itself. One of the players signed by Hilltop is "Sonny" Peak. Peak was gunning for the individual scoring crown last season when a member of the Cornwells Boys Club but he decided to quit basketball mid-way in the race.

Kaiser Metal, managed by Peter Harkins, has signed several boys who formerly were connected for college basketball and on paper, the aircraft workers appear to be one of the best quintets in the circuit.

Augie Everitt has taken over the reins of the Rohm & Haas team which will be shooting for an inaugural triumph. Manager Everitt has most of his team back from last season including Pat Carnvale, Chuck Klein, Bill Butz, and Walt Zook.

Franklin lost its opening game to the Celtics but since then Pete DeLuca, manager, has signed several players which will strengthen the 1951-52 champions.

BOWLING

HUNTER-WILSON BOWLING LEAGUE

The following is a list of the team standings for the Hunter-Wilson League as determined by Monday night's bowling at the Bristol Recreation Center:

Team	Won	Lost
White Label	35	21
Hunter	28	28
That's All	25	31
Black Label	24	32

The team standings for this League remained the same this week with White Label downing That's All, 4-0; and Black Label defeating Hunter, 3-1.

Individual high single: Pursell, 191
Individual high series: Pursell, 516
Team high single: Black Label, 753
Team high series: Black Label, 2159

BAG FOUR DEER

A party of four hunters, Vincent Eckert, Sr., Miriam Eckert, Second ave., West, Bristol; John Reilly, Rogers road, West Bristol; John Tomlinson, Newtown, returned Tuesday from Milford. The party bagged four deer. While in Pike county they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Broadnix.

The 8th president, Martin Van-Buren, was born Dec. 5, 1782.

Dominik is Reserve End on Syracuse U. To Play in Miami

Joe Dominik, a reserve end on the Syracuse University grid squad, will be among the 43-man team which travels to Miami, Fla., later this month to play the University of Alabama in the 19th annua. Orange Bowl.

Syracuse will be out for their eighth victory of the season as against two losses. After losing to Bolling Field and top-ranked Michigan State early in the season, the Pietymen finished the season in fine style by taking their last four games in a row.

This will mark the first post-season appearance in which the Orange have participated in the 64-year history of the school. For Alabama, who brings a 9-2 record into the classic, the 1953 Orange Bowl will mark its eleventh bowl appearance.

Coach Ben Schwartzwalder and his squad arrive down in Miami shortly after Dec. 20. The team will stay at the Hotel Flamingo. The Orange coaching staff is hoping to have the squad at full strength in contrast to the rash of injuries which hit the team during the regular schedule.

Hudson Announces Three

and two-tone combinations, and the added glamour of Hudson-Aire Hardtop Styling, the '53 Hudsons are the most beautiful and luxurious in company history.

Interiors are decorator-planned to complement a wide range of exterior car colors. Trim appointments are color-harmonized with luxurious, long wearing upholstery fabrics in smart new weaves. Restyled door panels and gleaming chrome ornamention further accentuate the lavish interiors.

Seats are more comfortable, scientifically designed to give day-long riding comfort with less fatigue. Foam rubber cushions with new bolstered and rolled edge contours give leg support where needed. Seats are a full 64 inches wide, giving more shoulder, leg and hip-room than any other car.

Powered by Hudson's high-compression, L-head engines with advanced Power-Dome cylinder heads, the new Hudsons deliver peak performance under all driving conditions. These high-output, in-line engines offer exceptional durability and low upkeep costs due to super-hard chrome alloy cylinder blocks, the hardest in the industry.

Leading the 1953 Hudson line is the famous Hudson Hornet, national stock car chapion and winner of 45 races in strictly stock competition, a record never approached by any other make.

The Hudson Hornet has two lower-priced running mates for 1953, a spectacular new Hudson Super Wasp and the Hudson Wasp.

The Hudson Super Wasp offers many of the Hornet's advantages and much of the Hornet's luxury in a lower-priced bracket. It has Hudson's exclusive "step-down" design with floor recessed down within the frame and lower center of gravity, outstanding performance and Hudson-Aire Hardtop Styling.

The Super Wasp is powered by a high-compression, high-output H-127 engine. It has the superior roadability and ease of handling that characterize all Hudson cars. It has Hudson's rugged Monobilt body-and-frame construction that provides unequalled durability and greater passenger safety.

hang red boots and pine cones. A sleigh loaded with gifts brings Christmas color to the show cabinet in the front window.

Santa dashed starts against the blue-sky background of the J. B. Wilson store, and on a silver cord he hung gifts of women's pocketbooks and apparel. Then he framed his work of art with snowy twigs and Christmas lights to guide the evening shopper to the store.

At Bristol United Drug Store the good Christmas gentleman left a likeness of himself. Near the doorway stands the lighted image, pack on back, just about to descend into the chimney of some shopper's home.

All along the block, in barber shop windows with bright red window floor coverings, and on the poles along the street on which stretch garlands of holly, Santa has come to town with bright trimmings and presents for all.

Housewives Worth $100, Municipal Taxmen Say

Assessment on Occupation $200 to $800 and $900 For The Husbands

LEVITTOWN, Dec. 18—Your wife is worth $100 — taxwise, that is.

Bristol twp., Falls twp., and Tullytown borough levy occupation taxes on Levittown residents living in their respective sectors. All three municipalities assess the job of housewife at $100. Her husband's job is assessed at $200 to $900 in Bristol twp., and $200 to $800 in Falls twp. and Tullytown. The occupation tax rates vary in the three municipalities, which also collect per capita school taxes.

In Bristol twp. there is a per capita school tax and a personal school tax, each set $5 per adult each year. An occupation tax of $1.70 per $100 valuation collected by Bristol twp. each year consists of one dollar in township tax and .07 Bucks County tax.

Bristol twp. taxes should be paid directly to Robert Cameron, tax collector. He said the average family paid $25 to $30 in taxes in 1952.

The Falls twp. annual school tax is $5 per adult, Lloyd Vandenbergh, tax collector, announces. The occupation tax, .70 county tax and .30 road tax, totals one dollar per $100 valuation. Vandenberg said $15 to $20 was the average family tax he received this year.

The per capita tax in Tullytown is $5 per adult each year, according to William Leigh, borough tax collector. The occupation tax rate is $1.30 per $100, .07 county tax and .60 borough tax.

The township and borough taxes should be paid to the municipal tax collectors, a spokesman for Levitt & Sons, Inc., said this week. Several local residents have mistakenly made their payments to J. Halperin & Co., Bristol, who make financing arrangements for Levittown houses.

LEVITTOWN, Dec. 18 — At least one youngster in Levittown has a birthday on Christmas day. Dec. 25 will be the fourth birthday of Katherine Handler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard (and Eileen) Handler, 30 Graceful lane.

The Handlers came here Oct. 26 from Washington, D. C. Mr. Handler was born in Massachusetts and his wife, in the Bronx, New York. She and her husband were acquainted as small children in New York.

Later she re-met him while visiting in the national capital, where Mr. Handler's family had moved. He was a canoe racer in Washington, with the Dempsey Canoe Club, and won several medals and trophies in meets in all parts of the country.

Mr. Handler is now a fire protection engineer for the Factory Mutual Engineering Division, assigned to their Phila. office. He served in the Army during World War II, and then studied at the University of Maryland. After graduation, he was recalled to nine months of service.

Mrs. Handler studied at City College of New York and later worked as a bookkeeper and accountant. Knitting and embroidery are two pastimes she now enjoys.

Bordering the Handlers' fireplace is a hearth of red ceramic tiles which were laid by Mr. Handler. He has also set tiles at the front door. A project he has in mind for the new house is to build a screened-in porch on the side. He is helping a brother build a house in Maryland.

LEVITTOWN, Dec. 18 — Thomas P. Flanagan is a graduate of Mastbaum Vocational School, Phila., and his wife, Polly, of Simon Gratz High, in that city. They moved from Phila. to 28 Graceful lane Oct. 18.

The Flanagans have two children, Tomy, six, in first grade in Wistar Institute, and Joan, 2½.

Mr. Flanagan is shop superintendent for the Phila. Metal Drying Form Co. A Navy veteran of World War II., he sailed aboard the destroyers U. S. S. Shulbrick and U. S. S. Satterlea in the Atlantic, the Mediterranean and the Pacific Ocean.

Charles Grafly, sculptor, was born Dec. 3, 1862.

Progress Seen in Battle Against Rheumatic Fever

Disease is One of Deadliest Affecting the School Age Child

CHICAGO, Dec. 18—(INS)—New hope for a victory in the fight against rheumatic fever has been offered by a group of medical specalists.

The disease is one of the deadliest affecting the school age child and the greatest cause of disability in later life.

Progress Report

The doctors report "great progress" has been made in the study of the disease and a "marked" reduction in the annual number of deaths in the 5 to 19 age group.

Ten to twelve years ago, there were some 4,000 fatalities annually due to the diseases in this category. With the progress being made in medical research, the death rate has dropped 1,500—to 2,500 a year.

In a roundtable discussion on the disease at the meeting of the American Academy of Pediatrics, Dr. Arild Hansen of Galveston, Tex., said the biggest single reason for the reduction of deaths has been the "opportunity for treatment because of early diagnosis."

Dr. Hansen, a member of the University of Texas medical division, reported that physicians are now well acquainted with the "rather bizarre" symptoms that occur early in rheumatic fever.

"Tremendous progress" has also been made in preventing occurrences of the disease, the doctor noted. This is important since damage to the heart stemming from the new attacks made rheumatic fever dangerous.

With the use of sulfa compounds and penicillin, the reoccurrence rate has been plunged to near zero percent from the previous normal 75 per cent.

Dr. Hansen pointed out that doctors have suspected for many years that a hemolytic streptoccocic sore throat (the familiar "strep throat") has something to do with causing the disease, although only about two per cent of the children who develop the sore throat get rheumatic fever.

But intensive research has failed to disclose the fundamental nature of the disease.

Despite the unknown origin of rheumatic fever, Dr. Hansen declares "the way things have been going in the last decade, we can really have an air of optimism." He warned, however, that there are no specific tests for rheumatic fever and the doctor is the only one who can make the diagnosis.

Progress Seen in Battle Against Rheumatic Fever

Disease is One of Deadliest Affecting the School Age Child

CHICAGO, Dec. 18—(INS)—New hope for a victory in the fight against rheumatic fever has been offered by a group of medical specialists.

The disease is one of the deadliest affecting the school age child and the greatest cause of disability in later life.

Progress Report

The doctors report "great progress" has been made in the study of the disease and a "marked" reduction in the annual number of deaths in the 5 to 19 age group.

Ten to twelve years ago, there were some 4,000 fatalities annually due to the diseases in this category. With the progress being made in medical research, the death rate has dropped 1,500—to 2,500 a year.

In a roundtable discussion on the disease at the meeting of the American Academy of Pediatrics, Dr. Arild Hansen of Galveston, Tex., said the biggest single reason for the reduction of deaths has been the "opportunity for treatment because of early diagnosis."

Dr. Hansen, a member of the University of Texas medical division, reported that physicians are now well acquainted with the "rather bizarre" symptoms that occur early in rheumatic fever.

"Tremendous progress" has also been made in preventing occurrences of the disease, the doctor noted. This is important since damage to the heart stemming from the new attacks made rheumatic fever dangerous.

With the use of sulfa compounds and penicillin, the reoccurrence rate has been plunged to near zero percent from the previous normal 75 per cent.

Dr. Hansen pointed out that doctors have suspected for many years that a hemolytic streptoccocic sore throat (the familiar "strep throat") has something to do with causing the disease, although only about two per cent of the children who develop the sore throat get rheumatic fever.

But intensive research has failed to disclose the fundamental nature of the disease.

Despite the unknown origin of rheumatic fever, Dr. Hansen declares "the way things have been going in the last decade, we can really have an air of optimism." He warned, however, that there are no specific tests for rheumatic fever and the doctor is the only one who can make the diagnosis.

Big Job of Piping Natural Gas to Fairless Works

Fuel Will Be Used at Rate Of 23 Million Cubic Feet Daily

A big job has just been completed, according to the Current News for December, published by the Philadelphia Electric Company. The story as it appears in the "News" follows:

Natural gas to spark the wheels of industrial progress at the mammoth Fairless Works of the United States Steel Corporation at Morrisville, Pa., will shortly flow into that plant at an estimated rate of over 23 million cubic feet a day. The recently signed contract is believed to be one of the biggest on the Atlantic seaboard.

In order to meet the steel company's gas requirements, Philadelphia Electric's gas transmission and distribution employees rushed construction of a special 58,200-foot, eight-inch steel high pressure gas main from a point near Dolington, in Bucks county, to the north end of the Fairless Works. This line is tapped to the main artery of the Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corporation, which originates in the natural gas fields in Texas.

Installed at an average depth of three feet, this new Philadelphia Electric natural gas main traverses the rolling hills and waterways of historic Bucks county. Several technological improvements in gas main construction, adopted by P. E. Company during the past few years, were used on this project. for example, the gas main was treated with a special coating, known as "Somastic," to protect it from adverse ground conditions. To further insure against leaks and coating failure, the pipe coating was treated with a special electrical device, which operates at 20,000 volts, to detect even the smallest fault. In the lingo of T. & D. men this latter operation is known as "jeeping."

Other modern techniques in gas main installation were incorporated such as telemetering to control the flow of gas into the steel plant from the Philadelphia Electric service building in Fenndel, several miles away. The metering equipment is installed on the grounds of the Fairless Works to measure the cubic feet of gas used.

The cost of mains and related facilities to supply this natural gas service has been estimated at nearly $400,000.

A project of this kind also had a human side—the employees of the Company's gas department. Today, these men overcome with ease many problems in gas main construction which only a few years ago appeared almost insurmountable. For example, in the installation of this gas main, it was necessary to tunnel under seven railroad rights-of-way, the Delaware Canal, and other barriers.

It may be of interest to learn how a large gas main is tunneled under railroad tracks. The first preparation for the job is to form one end of a length of 20-inch pipe into an auger with two lips for cutting edges. A ditch is then dug to the railroad right-of-way and the pipe is lowerd into two wooden cradles set at the proper elevation and grade with respect to the top of the lowest rail of the railroad tracks.

A heavy plate is then set over the opposite end and a railroad jack set in position to push the pipe. Two sets of chain tongs are used to turn the boring pipe. In this way the pipe is turned and pushed forward at the same time. Dirt is removed as the boring pipe moves forward and additional lengths of pipe are joined to complete the boring job.

STYLE WISE

By Phyllis Battelle

(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Dec. 18—(INS)—A chic lady should adjust the size and shape of her accessories to the size and shape of herself.

That's the late word from the Paris and New York handbag, hat and et cetera designers who are plugging for "more coordination" in fashions and figures next season.

"Sizing"

Madame Jacqueline Vedrenne of Paris, for instance, makes umbrellas that are so smart they can do everything but predict weather. And she says that "sizing" is all-important to the woman who is buying a new umbrella.

A short, not too slender woman, she explains, should never allow herself to be intrigued by the fashion magazines into buying a long, slim umbrella. The very grace and length of her purchase will make the woman herself look squat and a bit awkward by contrast.

On the other hand, a tall and slim girl should never carry a conventional short-type bumbershoot; it makes her look monstrously big by contrast, and turns her accessory into insignificance.

The same approach to proportioned styling applies, logically, to other forms of accessorizing.

Take gloves.

As a reasonable rule, long-limbed woman with a considerable expanse of arm should avoid shortie gloves that nip her off at the wrist and exaggerate every inch of length from shoulder to hand. Shorter girls should likewise avoid elbow-lengthers and plump women would do well to give the gauntlet cuff the same weighty consideration they'd give a double chocolate soda.

Handbags are equally important; and the plump woman who goes off the deep end for a pouch bag is in for trouble from the experts. A plump woman should carry a handbag that is neither very thin—so it accentuates her width—nor very wide—so it looks like a caricature of her figure.

No Rule

A tall woman would do better to choose one of the smart large bags of next season, in keeping with her size. It can be either wide and thin (envelope shaped) or long and rounded.

There is no specific rule that can be followed in the case of figure type and accessory type to correspond. But in all forms of accessories, common sense should be applied.

Choose an accessory with a shape that is neither so similar to yours that it becomes a funny mimic of your imperfections, or so unlike yours that it looks ludicrously incongruous. And choose a size that works on the same not-too-close but not-too-far-off principle.

KITCHEN CLUES

By Nora W. Martin

(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, Dec. 18 — (INS) — For Christmas dinner French cuisine lives up to its fame from the oysters through the goose liver to the last morsel of Yule Log dessert.

"Reveillon"—the French Christmas meal—is an elaborate series of carefully chosen courses. The traditional menu does not necessarily include turkey.

Early Dinner

Contrary to American habits, the French eat Christmas dinner after the Mid-night Mass in the early hours of Christmas day.

The most classic "Reveillon" meal is composed of oysters, "boudin blanc," turkey (or chicken), foie gras, cheese and the Christmas "log" pastry.

Oysters are not a luxury in Paris and no festive meal during the cold season is without them. In France they are never cooked but served on ice and eaten on the half shell. For the "Reveillon" menu they are the first course.

The second course, "boudin-blanc," is a kind of white blood-pudding made with milk and ground chicken meat instead of blood. It is shaped like thick wieners and must be first boiled and then fried.

Turkey is reserved for large income families only. It is roasted in the oven and has a chestnut filling. In many families the turkey is replaced by chicken.

"Foie gras"—goose liver—is a necessity on the menu. A delicacy and quite expensive, it is served jellied or in thin slices decorated with truffles.

Cheese a Must

Cheese is a part of any meal in France. No Christmas dinner forgets it.

The dessert—a "Christmas log"—is a typical and important part of the festive meal.

It is a log-shaped biscuit filled with chocolate cream and covered with frosting to imitate tree bark. French gourmets have transformed the wooden "yule-log" of the fireplace into a tasty and fine pastry.

An important part of the Christmas menu is liquid. The most classic and festive French tradition is to have an all-champagne Christmas meal—champagne served with everything from the oysters to the dessert.

Otherwise, oysters and the "boudin blanc" call for a dry white wine, turkey, foie gras and cheese for red wine, and champagne to usher in the dessert on Christmas day.

Surgeons today are successfully performing radical operations on aged patients which would never have been considered ten years ago.

SUGAR PLUM DREAMS

- 1¼ cups sifted enriched flour
- 1½ teaspoons baking powder
- 1 teaspoon soda
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ cup shortening, soft
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 egg
- ¼ cup drained crushed pineapple
- ¼ cup mashed bananas
- 1 tablespoon grated orange rind
- 1¼ cups oats (quick or old fashioned, uncooked)

Sift together flour, baking powder, soda and salt into bowl. Add shortening, sugar and egg; beat until smooth. Mix in remaining ingredients.

Drop by teaspoons two inches apart onto greased cooky sheet. Decorate with pieces of candied cherry, if desired. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 8 to 10 minutes. Makes 3 dozen cookies.

Handbags are equally important; and the plump woman who goes off the deep end for a pouch bag is in for trouble from the experts. A plump woman should carry a handbag that is neither very thin—so it accentuates her width—nor very wide—so it looks like a caricature of her figure.

No Rule

A tall woman would do better to choose one of the smart large bags of next season, in keeping with her size. It can be either wide and thin (envelope shaped) or long and rounded.

There is no specific rule that can be followed in the case of figure type and accessory type to correspond. But in all forms of accessories, common sense should be applied.

Choose an accessory with a shape that is neither so similar to yours that it becomes a funny mimic of your imperfections, or so unlike yours that it looks ludicrously incongruous. And choose a size that works on the same not-too-close but not-too-far-off principle.

KITCHEN CLUES

By Nora W. Martin

(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, Dec. 18 — (INS) — For Christmas dinner French cuisine lives up to its fame from the oysters through the goose liver to the last morsel of Yule Log dessert.

"Reveillon"—the French Christmas meal—is an elaborate series of carefully chosen courses. The traditional menu does not necessarily include turkey.

Early Dinner

Contrary to American habits, the French eat Christmas dinner after the Mid-night Mass in the early hours of Christmas day.

The most classic "Reveillon" meal is composed of oysters, "boudin blanc," turkey (or chicken), foie grass, cheese and the Christmas "log" pastry.

Oysters are not a luxury in Paris and no festive meal during the cold season is without them. In France they are never cooked but served on ice and eaten on the half shell. For the "Reveillon" menu they are the first course.

The second course, "boudin-blanc," is a kind of white blood-pudding made with milk and ground chicken meat instead of blood. It is shaped like thick wieners and must be first boiled and then fried.

Turkey is reserved for large income families only. It is roasted in the oven and has a chestnut filling. In many families the turkey is replaced by chicken.

"Foie gras"—goose liver—is a necessity on the menu. A delicacy and quite expensive, it is served jellied or in thin slices decorated with truffles.

Cheese a Must

Cheese is a part of any meal in France. No Christmas dinner forgets it.

The dessert—a "Christmas log"—is a typical and important part of the festive meal.

It is a log-shaped biscuit filled with chocolate cream and covered with frosting to imitate tree bark. French gourmets have transformed the wooden "yule-log" of the fireplace into a tasty and fine pastry.

An important part of the Christmas menu is liquid. The most classic and festive French tradition is to have an all-champagne Christmas meal—champagne served with everything from the oysters to the dessert.

Otherwise, oysters and the "boudin blanc" call for a dry white wine, turkey, foie gras and cheese for red wine, and champagne to usher in the dessert on Christmas day.

Surgeons today are successfully performing radical operations on aged patients which would never have been considered ten years ago.

SUGAR PLUM DREAMS

- 1¼ cups sifted enriched flour
- 1½ teaspoons baking powder
- 1 teaspoon soda
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ cup shortening, soft
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 egg
- ¼ cup drained crushed pineapple
- ¼ cup mashed bananas
- 1 tablespoon grated orange rind
- 1¼ cups oats (quick or old fashioned, uncooked)

Sift together flour, baking powder, soda and salt into bowl. Add shortening, sugar and egg; beat until smooth. Mix in remaining ingredients.

Drop by teaspoons two inches apart onto greased cooky sheet. Decorate with pieces of candied cherry, if desired. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 8 to 10 minutes. Makes 3 dozen cookies.

Iron, and Social Changes, Made by Blast Furnaces

U. S. Steel Spokesman Describes Furnaces At Morrisville

MORRISVILLE — The heat from two giant blast furnaces now at work in the U. S. Steel Fairless Works is not only turning out one and one-fifth million tons of iron a year, but is the spark of the tremendous economic and social changes underway in Lower Bucks County. A U. S. Steel official describes the mighty stoves as follows:

A blast furnace is a high-temperature chemical retort in which iron ore is reduced to metallic iron. Coke and limestone are added to the charge. The coke supplies carbon for the necessary chemical reactions and also acts as a fuel. The limestone, when melted, combines with the impurities in the iron. These impurities and the molten limestone are drawn from the furnace in the form of slag, and pig iron is obtained for later use in open hearths to make steel.

Gases from the furnace are combustible and are used to heat the blast furnace stoves and to fire three boilers in the power plant. The gases are laden with dust from the furnace charge and must be cleaned before being used. The solids cleaned from the gas are recovered and, after processing, can be recharged in the furnace to make iron.

A blast furnace installation consists of the furnace proper, stoves to preheat the blast air, a turboblower to supply air under pressure, gas cleaning facilities, and material handling equipment. There are two blast furnaces at Fairless Works. Each is 233 feet high and has a hearth diameter of 28 feet.

The blast air is supplied to each furnace by one of three turboblowers, each with a capacity of 110,000 cubic feet a minute at 35 pounds per square inch pressure. At Fairless Works there are six stoves for preheating the blast air, three for each furnace. The stoves are 28 feet in diameter and 125 feet high. Gas from each furnace is cleaned by passing through a dust catcher, a spray washer and finally through an electrostatic precipitator.

The furnaces cast pig iron into 200-ton mixer-type ladles which deliver the molten iron to the Open Hearth Shop. Slag is run into two-compartment dry slag pits. When cooled, it is removed by power shovel. Each compartment holds about a week's output of slag. The two blast furnaces will produce about 1,200,000 tons of pig iron each year. They will use more than 8,000 tons of raw materials every day.

Kiddies To Receive Gifts From Probation Office

About 389 Girls and Boys To Be Remembered In Bucks County

There will be good Christmas cheer for approximately 389 Bucks County girls and boys who are under jurisdiction of Bucks County Juvenile Court. The distribution will be in charge of the county probation office, states Robert W. Shields, juvenile probation officer, in charge of delinquent boys of the county.

Mrs. Kathryn Stead, juvenile probation officer in charge of delinquent girls in the county, said that the girls are being sent scarves, perfume, nylon hosiery and candy. The boys will receive candy and neckties. Of the 130 boys on probation in their homes, 90 of the older ones were sent Christmas cards and the remaining 40 were sent gifts.

A total of 50 girls from this area are in corrective institutions throughout the state. There are two of the schools near Media, Sleighton Farms School for Girls and Elwyn Training School. Laurelton State Village is located near Williamsport and Martha Lloyd's School is near Troy. Margaret Duer Judge School, near Milford, and Pennhurst State School, near Royersford, also care for delinquent girls from Bucks County.

There are 65 delinquent boys from Bucks County in corrective institutions throughout the state. Two of the schools are near Media, Elwyn Training School and Glen Mills School for Boys. Some of the boys are sent to Kis-Lyn Industrial School, near Hazleton; Philadelphia Protectory for Boys at Phoenixville; Penna. Industrial School near Harrisburg; Huntingdon Institute, and Penna. Junior Republic near Grove City. Those sent to Hershey Industrial School, Penna., have one parent deceased.

Miss Jean Wismer, assistant probation officer, visits the 100 children who are placed in foster homes throughout the county and she has mailed gifts to them.

HERE'S CHRISTMAS SHOPPER'S SPECIAL — EASY CASSEROLE

Our Christmas season is always busy. There's shopping for gifts, entertaining, club activities, as well as the regular home work. During this time, of course, you can't neglect your family meals. For the busy homemaker, heres' just the dish—Baked Hamburger En Casserole. You can even prepare this casserole early in the morning, then closely cover and place in your refrigerator until dinner time nears. Then all you do is to remove it from your oven and cook in a 300 degrees F. oven for 1½ hours. Serve with simple accompaniments such as a lettuce salad, hot vegetable, advance-prepared dessert, bread and beverage.

Baked Hamburger En Casserole

- 1½ Pounds ground beef
- ½ cup grated onion
- 2 teaspoons salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 3 cups sliced raw potatoes
- Salt and pepper to season
- 1 No. 2 can whole kernel corn
- 1 No. 2 can peas
- 2 cups cooked or canned tomatoes

Combine ground beef, onion, salt and pepper. Shape into 6 or 8 patties. Arrange a layer of sliced potatoes in greased baking dish; season well. Add a layer of corn, a layer of peas, and top with the meat patties. Pour tomatoes over all. Bake in slow oven (300 degrees F.) for 1½ hours or until meat is done.

Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

HERE'S CHRISTMAS SHOPPER'S SPECIAL EASY CASSEROLE

Our Christmas season is always busy. There's shopping for gifts, entertaining, club activities, as well as the regular home work. During this time, of course, you can't neglect your family meals. For the busy homemaker, heres' just the dish—Baked Hamburger En Casserole. You can even prepare this casserole early in the morning, then closely cover and place in your refrigerator until dinner time nears. Then all you do is to remove it from your oven and cook in a 300 degrees F. oven for 1½ hours. Serve with simple accompaniments such as a lettuce salad, hot vegetable, advance-prepared dessert, bread and beverage.

Baked Hamburger En Casseroie

1½ Pounds ground beef
½ cup grated onion
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
3 cups sliced raw potatoes
Salt and pepper to season
1 No. 2 can whole kernel corn
1 No. 2 can peas
2 cups cooked or canned tomatoes

Combine ground beef, onion, salt and pepper. Shape into 6 or 8 patties. Arrange a layer of sliced potatoes in greased baking dish; season well. Add a layer of corn, a layer of peas, and top with the meat patties. Pour tomatoes over all. Bake in slow oven (300 degrees F.) for 1½ hours or until meat is done.

Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

A Pair of Battling Brothers Prove Problem to One Mother

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

SOME parents are sure they have the "fightingest" children in the world. But they just don't know the world of children. Anyway, many a mother could match the following letter.

"Dear Dr. Myers: Our problem is regarding our two sons, ages 13 and 8. They are constantly quarreling, or I should say the older is lording it over the younger, which results in continual contention. I was formerly a teacher and have tried to find a reason for the older boy's pugnacious attitude.

Decided Contrast

"The older boy has a very quick temper and becomes very angry when corrected, while the younger is patient and gentle. We do want our older boy to learn to control his temper. He cannot walk past his brother without taking a poke at him, which is often pretty hard. We have tried various means of punishment—whipping (I believe a 13-year-old is past this), banishment to his room, depriving him of listening to the radio, etc., and most of all, sitting down and talking things over. He seems to be a sensitive, nervous child.

"I realize that boys do have their tiffs, but I don't believe it should be day in and day out. I just can't stand this bickering all the time. I have to cry when things get rough.

"We spend time with the boys playing games, but if we all four play, the older one starts to make trouble."

Here, in substance, is how I wrote this mother: I can see how you are often exasperated at your older boy. But you should know that in any family with two boys, 13 and 8, what you describe may occur. However, you might be able to promote more peace.

There will be times when you will need to separate these boys for half an hour or more. But I'm sure that whipping the older is not a wise way to punish him for hitting the younger.

The patient, gentle ways of the younger exaggerate the opposite traits in the older, who must suppose you are always championing the younger and treating him as the favorite. Almost surely the younger has subtle ways of teasing the older so the latter will get rebuked or punished. (My bulletins, "Quarrelling and Fighting," "Jealousy," and "The Nervous, Jittery Mother," may be had in a stamped envelope sent me in care of this paper.)

Needs to Feel Secure

You hardly can hope for much improvement until you can build more self-regard and family security in the older son. Set the stage so he will bring in his pals, and the younger boy will also have playmates of his own age. These boys live in two separate worlds.

I hope Dad goes places just with the elder lad and that you both let him have privileges, such as later bedtime, because he is the older; and that your friends help you build in this older boy a feeling of worthwhileness as a person and member of the family.

AFTER CAROLING SERVE THESE HAM BURGERS

After an evening of Christmas caroling the crowd is sure to have ravenous appetites. Why not invite the young people to your home for a hearty snack, perhaps eaten around your decorated tree.

Hungry carolers will quickly approve of a tray of Ham Toppers. These are broiled ham patties served in big toasted buns with "the trimmings." In this case the trimming can be either lettuce, tomato and pickle or a surprise of grilled pineapple rings. If you have ham left over from yesterday's roast, then this is a perfect way of making use of every bit because you grind the ham, then bind it with an egg. Next it is formed into patties ready to broil.

According to the meat expert, Reba Staggs, in broiling place the plump patties on your broiler rack and adjust the pan so that the top of the meat is about 2 inches from the heat. Broil for about 6 minutes or until brown, then turn and finish cooking on the second side. Have buns ready in which to slip the hot patties.

Serve the ham with cole slaw or potato chips or sticks. For dessert have mulled cider and doughnuts or hot chocolate and Christmas cookies.

Elks Boosted Bristol Thirty Years Ago Here

Bristol Lodge Had An Eight-Page Special Newspaper Issued

Turning back calendar pages 30 years there are found interesting news articles in not only a special 8-page newspaper published by Bristol Lodge of Elks, but in accounts of that lodge's activities appearing in The Bristol Courier in which Bristol and lower Bucks county was being boosted as the seat for industrial expansion.

The theme 30 years ago was "Bristol, Penna., the strategic commercial key site to all the tremendous industrial possibilities of the east."

In the 8-page paper, edited by the social and community welfare committee of Lodge 970, B.P.O. Elks, there appeared on the first page a large photograph of Bristol and environs, and beneath it an open letter to industry. In the letter there were questions asked: Is the problem confronting you one of housing? Is it an abundant supply of intelligent, skilled labor? Is it transportation, river, canal, concrete highway or rail? Is it easy access to the raw materials and markets of the world? Is it easy access to building materials, sand, gravel, cement or structural steel? Is it easy access to fuel, coal or electrical power? The answer in back of each was "We have it".

The booster movement, with industries being induced to move to this area, had the backing of Clifford L. Anderson, then burgess of Bristol; as well as of various lodges, clubs, business men, and local industries.

Although some of those pictured in or who wrote articles for the special edition have died, there are still many living and active in business and the professions—and they have lived to see the day when lower Bucks is one of the fastest booming sections in the United States. They have lived to see the day when a gigantic steel plant is being erected along the Delaware river, several miles east of Bristol; and to see two communities of thousands of houses — Levittown and Fairless Hills—within a few miles of Bristol.

One four-column article was written by the late Thomas B. Stockham, president of Bucks County Chamber of Commerce. Other articles were headed "The Delaware's Possibilities", "Fire Protection the Best", "Bristol Banking Institutions", "Seven Building Associations", "Transportations", "Bristol and Ship Canal", "Bristol's Ideal Location", "Bristol's Future Development", "Splendid Rail Facilities".

In The Bristol Courier of Aug 22, 1922, a story appeared "Elks Announce Industry is ready to Locate here". This referred to The Special Products Co. An article in the Courier of Nov. 17th informed that Bucks County C. of C. had voted to endorse the booster edition of the Elks lodge, when the Chamber held a meting at Doylestown.

Businessmen gathered in Bristol for subsequent booster meetings, planning for their edition. At one of these sesions, on Dec. 7th, Louis Dries said "There is no other community that has the natural advantages of the lower end of Bucks county. In the next 20 years I have no doubt you will see industrial development from the Philadelphia line to the Trenton line. It is bound to come". William H. Bown said "I believe Bristol has a bright future".

Roy Tracy, chairman of the lodge's social and community welfare committee, was another speaker. On the committee with him were: James R. Wells, H. J. Arnold, William H. Fox, Pemberton M. Minster, William H. H. Fine, Ellwood G. Minster, Francis J. Byers, A. Willis Sheppard, John H. Hardy, M. J. Hill, Howard I. James, L. T. Rodan, William Murphy, C. L. Anderson, H. Y. Pickering, H. R. Thornton, William C. Watson, J. J. Kilcoyne, John P. Kessler.

Meetings were held regularly to maintain "a healthy boosting spirit".

Thomas Scott, late cashier of Farmers National Bank of Bucks County, had this to say: "The time will come when you will see industries from Bristol to Morrisville, and then we business men will get our fair proportion of the business that will be derived from these sources".

No breakfast at all or a coffee and bun on the run, if continued as a habit will increase fatigue, reduce work capacity, lower resistance to disease and cause irritability.

"WASHINGTON REPORT"

By FULTON LEWIS, JR.

(Copyright, 1952, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.

Until the departure of President Truman from the White House it will be impossible to expose fully the betrayal of American secrets by Soviet agents working inside the government.

Mr. Truman has always viewed the Communist issue in government as political. In the Alger Hiss case, for instance, he privately suggested that Hiss should be shot, while publicly describing the case as a red herring. In his ignorance he failed to realize how harmful his public utterances are to the efforts of those who seek to clean Communists out of the government.

His statements have halted public investigations and silenced many who would have spoken out except for fear of his political reprisals. Inept in handling the issues confronting his high office, he has damaged the nation's security time and again.

One of the more persistent stories concerning Hiss and the President, which has long been a topic of comment in U. S. security agencies, involved an American promise to prewar Poland that a Nazi attack would result in U. S. assistance. The message was delivered to Poland by Ambassador William C. Bullitt.

Bullitt had barely returned to Washington before Nazi propaganda broadcasts were accusing the U. S. of war mongering because of the promise to Poland. At that time Germany and Russia were signators of a mutual aid pact and, in fact, were exchanging intelligence reports on the British and U. S. obtained by agents inside both Allied governments.

An editorial in the current issue of Freeman Magazine, written by Forrest Davis, relates a subsequent discovery by the U. S. government involving the Polish issue. It was in August of 1948 that U. S. intelligence services completed translating captured documents seized from the German high command. A digest of the documents was presented to Mr. Truman. The digest showed beyond quibble, according to Freeman Magazine, that Hiss had delivered to Moscow full information on the Bullitt conference in Poland, which was in turn handed over to Nazi Germany. It was on this occasion the President is reported to have remarked that Hiss should be shot.

Within a few hours, at a press conference, however, Mr. Truman was telling reporters that the Communist issue was a "bugaboo," and that the Hiss case was political.

No neutral reporters ever have been able to get an affirmation or denial out of the White House or State Department. The captured Nazi archives are, of course, still labeled secret in the Pentagon. A new administration, however, could remove this label so that the documents could be made available to an appropriate Congressional investigating committee. The public is entitled to the facts concerning an event which has been common gossip in Washington over the past four years.

There are other incidents of similar nature now locked up in Mr. Truman's White House files. He will protect them at all costs, since he considers their disclosure a political slap at him and his administration. He will be unable to hide all of them, however.

One of the most important bits of evidence, never disclosed, concerns a high Canadian government official, now with the United Nations, whose pro-Soviet activities were reported to the White House and State Department during the investigation of the Russian spy ring in Canada. Subsequently a former Russian spy courier, Elizabeth Bentley, identified the Canadian as a Communist known to her espionage ring.

She testified in executive session before a Senatorial committee which has, at the insistence of the State Department, kept the facts from the public.

The Canadian Royal Commission dispatched a long list of American Reds associated with Communists in Canada, who were exposed when a Soviet Embassy code clerk there confessed his part in an espionage ring. The list was sent to the Federal Bureau of Investigation. FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover personally took the list to Mr. Truman and asked for authority to investigate and submit to the Department of Justice any evidence of guilt. Mr. Truman reacted politically once again. He did nothing except continue to scoff at charges that his administration, like that of his predecessor, was riddled with Reds.

The new Congress can perform no greater service to the American people than to expose the entire sordid tale of Mr. Truman's failures to aid patriotic Americans in fighting Communism. It's the blackest mark on his record, and he knows it.

"WASHINGTON REPORT"

By FULTON LEWIS, JR.

(Copyright, 1952, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.

Until the departure of President Truman from the White House it will be impossible to expose fully the betrayal of American secrets by Soviet agents working inside the government.

Mr. Truman has always viewed the Communist issue in government as political. In the Alger Hiss case, for instance, he privately suggested that Hiss should be shot, while publicly describing the case as a red herring. In his ignorance he failed to realize how harmful his public utterances are to the efforts of those who seek to clean Communists out of the government.

His statements have halted public investigations and silenced many who would have spoken out except for fear of his political reprisals. Inept in handling the issues confronting his high office, he has damaged the nation's security time and again.

One of the more persistent stories concerning Hiss and the President, which has long been a topic of comment in U. S. security agencies, involved an American promise to prewar Poland that a Nazi attack would result in U. S. assistance. The message was delivered to Poland by Ambassador William C. Bullitt.

Bullitt had barely returned to Washington before Nazi propaganda broadcasts were accusing the U. S. of war mongering because of the promise to Poland. At that time Germany and Russia were signators of a mutual aid pact and, in fact, were exchanging intelligence reports on the British and U. S. obtained by agents inside both Allied governments.

An editorial in the current issue of Freeman Magazine, written by Forrest Davis, relates a subsequent discovery by the U. S. government involving the Polish issue. It was in August of 1948 that U. S. intelligence services completed translating captured documents seized from the German high command. A digest of the documents was presented to Mr. Truman. The digest showed beyond quibble, according to Freeman Magazine, that Hiss had delivered to Moscow full information on the Bullitt conference in Poland, which was in turn handed over to Nazi Germany. It was on this occasion the President is reported to have remarked that Hiss should be shot.

Within a few hours, at a press conference, however, Mr. Truman was telling reporters that the Communist issue was a "bugaboo," and that the Hiss case was political.

No neutral reporters ever have been able to get an affirmation or denial out of the White House or State Department. The captured Nazi archives are, of course, still labeled secret in the Pentagon. A new administration, however, could remove this label so that the documents could be made available to an appropriate Congressional investigating committee. The public is entitled to the facts concerning an event which has been common gossip in Washington over the past four years.

There are other incidents of similar nature now locked up in Mr. Truman's White House files. He will protect them at all costs, since he considers their disclosure a political slap at him and his administration. He will be unable to hide all of them, however.

One of the most important bits of evidence, never disclosed, concerns a high Canadian government official, now with the United Nations, whose pro-Soviet activities were reported to the White House and State Department during the investigation of the Russian spy ring in Canada. Subsequently a former Russian spy courier, Elizabeth Bentley, identified the Canadian as a Communist known to her espionage ring.

She testified in executive session before a Senatorial committee which has, at the insistence of the State Department, kept the facts from the public.

The Canadian Royal Commission dispatched a long list of American Reds associated with Communists in Canada, who were exposed when a Soviet Embassy code clerk there confessed his part in an espionage ring. The list was sent to the Federal Bureau of Investigation. FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover personally took the list to Mr. Truman and asked for authority to investigate and submit to the Department of Justice any evidence of guilt. Mr. Truman reacted politically once again. He did nothing except continue to scoff at charges that his administration, like that of his predecessor, was riddled with Reds.

The new Congress can perform no greater service to the American people than to expose the entire sordid tale of Mr. Truman's failures to aid patriotic Americans in fighting Communism. It's the blackest mark on his record, and he knows it.

Trend to Penna. Seen As Winter Sports Center

Outdoor Snow Sports Centers Are in Beautiful Settings

HARRISBURG, Dec. 18 — A winter holiday package in Pennsylvania this year will contain a variety of outdoor snow sports surrounded by nature at its most beautiful, accented by indoor recreation at its best and the most reasonable and up-to-date accommodations.

According to a survey made by the State Department of Commerce, Pennsylvania winter sports centers are in a state of readiness unsurpassed in recent years. Even the records set during last year's peak season will fall this year, according to the Department, which predicts a greater trend to Pennsylvania as a vacationland.

This indication of a Pennsylvania trend is based on many apparent reasons but is especially found in the analysis of the advance reservation lists of eastern resorts. Reservations for Pennsylvania winter vacations, particularly in the Pocono mountains of the northeastern part of this State, are ahead of last year by a large percentage.

Thousands of dollars have been spent in improving facilities and accommodations in Pennsylvania. New trails, new slopes, new artificial rinks, floodlighted for night skating, new trailside and skating pond heated shelters, floodlights on some of the natural lakes with controlled surfaces, and improvements in older facilities have been completed for the season. Even several new toboggan runs have been established and new electric tows constructed, including one new T-bar lift.

All of this was intended for the outdoor enthusiast who will find his vacation pleasure in the frosty winter wonderlands of Pennsylvania. For the vacationist who would rather take his winter with a window pane between the frostiness and the fireplace, the resorts have planned expanded programs of activities and entertainment indoors.

And to top it all off will be an abundance of delicious food to satisfy the appetites whetted by the crisp air of the Pennsylvania hills. Another feature, too, is that most of these hotels have reduced rates, some of them as much as ten percent for the winter season.

Principal winter sports areas in Pennsylvania are:

Montrose Ski Bowl, Montrose, Susquehanna county; Elk Mountain, Uniondale, Susquehanna county; The Inn at Buck Hill Falls, Monroe county; Tyoga County Club, Wellsboro, Tioga county; Onawa Lodge, Mountainhome, Monroe county; Big Pocono Skiing, Inc., Tannersville, Monroe county; Cook Forest State Park, Cooksburg, Forest county; Seven Springs Farm, Champion, Somerset county; Skytop Club, Skytop, Monroe county; Harvey's Lake Hotel, Harvey's Lake, Luzerne county; Pocono Manor Inn, Pocono Manor, Monroe county; Laurel Mountain Slopes, Ligonier, Westmoreland county; Top Notch of the Poconos, LaAnna, Pike county; Skyline Inn, Mount Pocono, Monroe county; Split Rock Lodge, White Haven, Carbon county; Merry Hill Lodge, Cresco, Monroe county; Strickland's Mountain Inn, Mount Pocono, Monroe county; Pocmont Lodge, Bushkill, Pike county; Bradford Recreation Area, Bradford, McKean county.
